

SOMETHING ABOUT PARDONS.

A Citizen After Looking Into it Gives His Views—Some Who Signed Petitions.

Editor Herald and News.

[We have been hearing so much about pardons and paroles, that I have been asking some questions and finding out some things. I find that Governor Blease has not pardoned very many people. He has paroled a good many. The governor says it is best with most people when they are turned out to put some restraint upon them, to say to them they must not drink whiskey, must not get drunk, but must behave themselves. I think that is a pretty good plan, for it helps to make better citizens out of people who have gone astray. And some people go off into the bad road just because they can't help it sometimes.]

Now Governor Blease, I find, hasn't turned out near so many people as they say he has. They claim he has released over 1,200. The figures don't show it. In this 1,200 are to be counted all those sent from the penitentiary back to the chaingang of the 44 counties of the State, those pardoned to restore citizenship, those respited for a few days, and other ways of showing clemency without actually turning a man free.

I saw a statement the other day of the names of many judges, solicitors, sheriffs, and candidates for governor who have signed some of these petitions that Governor Blease has acted upon. There sure was a long list of them. I got to wondering when I read all those names of high officials—I got to wondering about Newberry county. I knew some prisoners in Newberry county, on the chaingang, and in penitentiary from Newberry county had been sent back home by the governor. I wondered who signed those petitions—or if the governor just turned them out without any one asking him to do so. So I have made a little investigation. My goodness! The names, the names, the names! It would take too much of your paper, Mr. Editor, to put them all in. It would cause you about as much trouble to print them all as you had in printing the club rolls. So I am not going to ask you to publish all the names of the people who signed these petitions. But please publish these. I have tried to arrange them as the club rolls are fixed up, alphabetically, so you can glance over them a little easier.

er. Yes sir, everyone of those names is on at least one petition to the governor. And they are all good men. They represent every walk in life almost, the pulpit, the law, the cotton mill, the mercantile business, the farmer, etc. I would love to get my name in with that class of people, and I think I would sign any petition that three of them had signed, for I would believe they knew what they had signed.

Now, Mr. Editor, some people have been so unkind as to say that Governor Blease would turn people out of prison on the petition of any class of people. So far as Newberry county is concerned the records show otherwise. The governor has listened to the voice of Newberry's best citizens, some his friends, some his enemies. And I hope that no one in Newberry county will say anything against any of the men named above, for it would not be right to speak ill of our best people. I put your name in Mr. Editor, and if any one criticizes the Newberry petitioners you must help me to defend them.

Yours truly,
L. A. Tew.

To Our Candidates.

Editor The Herald and News:

Being interested in the discussion of political questions I look forward to the campaign meeting next Saturday with interest. The tax question is a burning issue and I am anxious to know whether those who offer for suffrage will promise to labor for a more economical administration of county and State affairs. Want to hear other matters discussed as well.

Tax Payer.

Married by Rev. W. R. Bouknight at Kinards, S. C., Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock, Miss Ruby Foster, of Newberry, and Mr. Clarence Miller, of Tabernacle section.

RICHARD I. MANNING, OF SUMTER FOR GOVERNOR.

Vote for Manning, because:

He is a practical and successful farmer and knows what he farmer needs. He is working for better fertilizers, and for better country conditions—

He is a practical and successful business man and can administer the affairs of the State in the best manner—

He is a level-headed man, of sound judgment, with fine administrative ability; he is the kind of man that gets things done—

He is a courageous man and he is an honest man; he does not form his views just to please a crowd, nor does he pretend to be one thing to one man, and another thing to another—

He will enforce the law on the statute books without favoring one man over another, or one town or county over another—

And because, with Manning governor, South Carolina will prosper, will be law-abiding, will be well governed, and you will never be sorry that you voted for him—

LEE COUNTY ENDORSES

MANNING FOR GOVERNOR

Bishopville, S. C., Aug. 13, 1914.
To the Democratic Voters of South Carolina:—

It is a poor policy to split up our votes among a great many candidates; by doing so some man that the majority does not want is apt to get a plurality in the first race and so be the candidate in the second race, when as a matter of fact a big majority of people are opposed to him. We, farmers and business men of Lee county, wish to commend to all our fellow South Carolinians our neighbor and a man we know well, Hon. Richard I. Manning, as their choice for governor. Mr. Manning is first of all a successful farmer, and next, is a successful business man. He is a man whose private life is above reproach. Who public life is always open, who takes a stand to what he thinks is right and does not put his honest convictions aside for a stand that he does not believe in but which will bring him votes. If elected he will make South Carolina an able governor, conducting the affairs of the State along sound but progressive lines.

"United we stand; divided we fall." We urge every good South Carolinian who wants to see our State well governed for the next two years to vote for Richard I. Manning.

CHINA

If you are in need now or expect to have to buy China any time soon it will pay you to buy it before the price advances.

The European War is bound to advance the price on China, as it has already advanced the price on a great many things.

I am fortunate in having a large stock of China on hand and will sell it at the same price as long as it lasts.

You will save money if you buy what you need now, for in three months the same China will be worth 25 per cent more if the war continues, and it looks now like it will continue much longer.

Come at once and see my stock.
